What is the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board (First Things First)?

In November 2006, Arizona voters passed Proposition 203, also known as First Things First, a citizen's initiative that funds quality early childhood development and health at the state and local level. The Proposition created a new state level board known as the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health (AzECDH) Board, also known as the Board of First Things First, and the Regional Partnership Councils.

First Things First Mission

The mission of First Things First is to increase the quality of, and access to, early childhood programs that will ensure a child entering school arrives healthy and ready to succeed. This mission will principally be achieved through regional grants tailored to the specific needs and characteristics of the communities that the regions serve, with a focus on demonstrating improved outcomes around First Things First's six goal areas prioritized by the challenges the regions face. This mission is also accomplished through statewide initiatives that have been prioritized by the Board of First Things First.

This statewide policy and regional perspective are critical to the success of the First Things First mission. Early childhood development and health system initiatives from First Things First will be coordinated through statewide initiatives and regional priorities.

First Things First Goal Areas

The First Things First initiative specifies that programs undertaken by the Arizona Early Childhood Development and Health Board and the Regional Partnership Councils are to accomplish one or more of the following Goal Areas:

- Improve the quality of early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase the access to quality early childhood development and health programs.
- Increase access to preventive health care and health screenings for children through age five.
- Offer parent and family support and education concerning early childhood development and literacy.
- Provide professional development and training for early childhood development and health providers.
- Increasing coordination of early childhood development and health programs and provide public information about the importance of early childhood development and health.

What is the Funding Source?

The First Things First initiative provides for the distribution of funding through both statewide and regional grants.

Of the monies expended in a fiscal year from the First Things First program account, no more than ten percent may be used to fund statewide grants or programs. Statewide programs are considered those implemented across regional boundaries and are designed to benefit Arizona's children as a whole.

This Request for Grant Application is specifically dedicated to funding regional programs. Regional funding is based on the approval of the Regional Partnership Council funding plans submitted to the Board of First Things First.

The Regional Partnership Council that is involved in the release of this Request for Grant Application is the White Mountain Apache Tribe Regional Partnership Council.

Who is Eligible to Apply for this Funding Opportunity?

First Things First awards grants to:

- Non-profit 501 (c) (3) organizations providing services in Arizona (both secular and faith-based)
- Units of Arizona government (local, county and state entities as well as schools and school districts)
- Federally recognized Tribal governments or entities providing services within Arizona
- Arizona institutions of higher learning (colleges and universities)
- Private organizations providing services in Arizona

All potential Applicants must demonstrate organizational, fiscal and programmatic capacity to meet the requirements described in the scope of work listed in this RFGA.

What is the Total Funding Amount Available in this Request for Grant Application?

This is an eleven (11) month contract for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2011 with an option for renewal for two (2) additional twelve (12) month periods. Total funds available are approximately $125,000 for the first funding period. First Things First reserves the right not to award the entire amount of available funds or to award an amount that is greater than the posted available funds. Renewal will be contingent upon satisfactory contract performance, evaluation and availability of funds. One or multiple awards may be made.

Each applicant is to propose their own budget. The following costs and funding amounts are provided as guidance to assist an applicant in considering fair and reasonable costs for the full range of services requested by this grant funding.

Scope of Work: What Will This Grant Fund?

Strategy Overview

During the course of the past year, the region has seen an increase in the number of children being referred for evaluation of a developmental delay with the intent that the child may benefit from intervention services. This includes increases in the enrollment of the early pre-school program from 38 participants at the beginning of the 2009 school year to 53 participants in October of 2009.¹ The number of screenings conducted by the local Whiteriver Unified School District Child Find Program and the Tribal Child Find Program has risen dramatically this year with 64 children being referred for follow-up evaluation.² In addition, the Tribal Child Find Program screenings have shown that, of the children screened and referred for further evaluation since May 2009, 38 percent of the children evaluated scored low, but not low enough to qualify for early intervention services.³ While there are intervention services available for children who qualify, there is a gap in services for families of those children who are at risk of developmental delay but do not meet the thresholds of eligibility for intervention services. As a result, the White Mountain Apache Tribe Regional Partnership Council will implement a two-pronged approach that will provide supports for families of children, birth through age five, at-risk of developmental delay.

The strategy will provide a comprehensive Parent Coaching System with the first component to include ongoing, in-home, individualized supports to parents/guardians whose child has been screened and/or evaluated but does not meet the criteria for intervention services. The individual coaching sessions will differ from the traditional intervention services in that the intent will be to focus on engaging the parent in promoting the child's development but not providing direct therapeutic services to the child. Topics will focus on those that assist the family in understanding their child's individual development and how to best support it. Specific areas of focus may include enhancing children's language development, ways to create a learning environment in the home, strategies to assist children's social and emotional development, and activities that promote physical development. Additionally, parents/guardians will be provided with a parent advocacy component, outlining for families when to be concerned about their child's development and to whom to bring those concerns. The research literature suggests that the best home-visiting programs have been able to help parents learn parenting skills, increase confidence in their parenting skills, promote appropriate parent-child interactions and increase linkages with community services including health and social services.⁴ Additionally, the individual coaching component will include an innovative element of documenting children's progress in the form of a child development portfolio. The portfolio will be a file that allows the parent to track the growth and development of the child over the course of their participation in the coaching program. Elements in the portfolio would include notes the parents make regarding observations of their child's development, photographs, drawings, writings, and other forms of documentation of fine and gross motor activities. The portfolio will be a mechanism for parents to track and monitor, in an informal manner, their child's growth and development. If the parent continues to have a concern with their child's development, the portfolio provides a resource that will allow them to pursue additional screening and/or evaluation for intervention services.

The second component of the strategy will seek to bring parents/guardians of children at-risk for developmental delay out of isolation and provide a system of social supports and networking opportunities through interactive group coaching activities. Historically, children with special needs and children at risk of developmental delay were seen as a liability to the community and were left to die shortly after birth. While children are no longer left to die, families of children with special needs and families of children at risk of developmental delay tend to be very isolated from the rest of the community. In a culture based on communal sharing of wealth and burdens, isolation can have devastating, long-term impacts on the individual or family. This prong will be accomplished by hosting monthly group sessions that allow parents/guardians and their children to interact with one another. These groups can be organized play groups or other activities as outlined by the grantee with the intent of building on the the learning taking place during the home visitation activities. Group meetings should include both time for families to provide peer supports as well modeling of adult-child interactions in group settings. Helping families feel more supported by professionals as well as their peers will help to bring these families out of isolation and empower them to be stronger advocates for their children.

This second component will be built upon in subsequent years with the incorporation of a peer mentoring program beginning in year SFY 2012. Similar programs have been established to build peer support for parents/guardians of children with special needs in order to provide emotional support and practical advice.⁵ The peer mentoring in year two will be to provide an additional layer of support for families of children at-risk for developmental delay. The families will have support from the home visitor, the group instructor, other families attending the group sessions and then the peer mentors who have successfully completed the program. In order to help ensure the efficacy of the peer mentoring component, peer mentors should practice techniques that ensure families feel secure and confident in the information the peer mentor provides.⁶ This can include but is not limited to:

- Let the family you are talking to direct the conversation. Encourage them to express their concerns and questions
- Be open-minded and accepting of their feelings and attitudes
- Be a good listener
- Confidentiality is a must
- Acknowledge and talk to and about the other children in the family
- Ask about the other parent and how he or she is doing if they are not present
- Act as a friend and share similar feelings, fears, apprehensions, etc.

- Boost morale and self-image, e.g. comment on positive steps they have already taken
- Tactfully relate your own positive experiences, but let them find their own solutions
- Inform them of support services related to their child's disability, but don't overload them with information
- Encourage parents to take time out for themselves, with a view toward balance in care for meeting the needs of all family members

Lastly, all grantees of this strategy will be required to attend the local Interagency Workgroup meetings in order to build coordination and collaboration among other early childhood development and health providers. Attendance at the Interagency meetings will be required in order to maintain funding for this strategy.

By targeting families of children at-risk for developmental delay, the strategy seeks to fill an existing gap in service delivery while being able to change cultural norms and bring families out of social isolation.

Target Population

The strategy will target parents/guardians of children birth through age five who:

- 1) Are at risk for developmental delay but who do not qualify for Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) related intervention services (i.e. children who do not meet the 50 percent delay threshold for children birth to three; or who do not meet eligibility requirements for ages three to five in two or more areas of delay; or who do not meet speech/language eligibility requirements for ages three to five).
- 2) Are at risk for developmental delay based on an underlying health condition that doesn't qualify the child for intervention services through DDD, AHCCCS, Indian Health Services or their insurance provider.

The target service numbers for this grant award will be 50 families.

Geographic Boundaries

The White Mountain Apache Tribe Regional Partnership Council serves, and applications submitted in response to this RFGA must serve, the communities of the Fort Apache Indian Reservation. The geographic service area will place equal emphasis on the three largest communities in the region; Hon-Dah/McNary, Cibecue and Whiteriver.

Implementation Requirements

This Request for Grant Application is seeking Applicants to address these specific Goals and Key Measures:

First Things First Goal Area to be addressed:

- Family Support

First Things First Goal to be addressed:

- First Things First will coordinate and integrate with existing early intervention, early childhood education and parent information systems to expand families' access to high quality, diverse and relevant information and resources to support their child's optimal development.

First Things First Key Measures to be addressed:

Standards of Practice

See Exhibit A: Parent Coaching and Peer Support Services Standards of Practice

Coordination

Coordination and collaboration among early childhood service providers is critical to developing a seamless service delivery system for children and families. Through coordination and collaboration, organizations begin to look at how they can change the way they work together so that they deliver services to children and families in new, more effective and efficient ways. As a result of coordination and collaboration, services are often easier to access and are implemented in a manner that is more responsive to the needs of the families. Coordination and collaboration may also result in greater capacity to deliver services because organizations are working together to identify and address gaps in service.

Services and programs cannot be implemented in isolation. Successful applicants must demonstrate capacity to attend meetings and participate productively in coordination and collaboration activities occurring within the First Things First region being served. Any grantee funded through the White Mountain Apache Tribe Regional Partnership Council must attend the monthly Interagency Workgroup meetings hosted through the local Child Find program. Grantees will be provided Interagency Workgroup meeting information once a contract has been fully executed.

To ensure the capacity to participate in these activities, Applicants should plan the appropriate staffing and budget to support travel to and attendance at five additional meetings, four within the region or in a neighboring region and one in the Phoenix area. All travel related costs for these trainings and meetings should be included in the Applicant's budget.

Program Specific Data Collection

All successful Applications will be provided with data reporting requirements by First Things First and will meet the requirements of the evaluation including, but not limited to, timely and regular reporting and cooperation with all First Things First evaluation activities. Timely and regular reporting of all performance and evaluation data including the electronic submission (through First Things First secure web portal known as PGMS) of data identified in data reporting templates (which will follow the First Things First general orientation).

First Things First reporting requirements will be aligned with the Goals, Key Measures, and Performance Measures identified in each Scope of Work. The purpose of the First Things First data submission is to determine the extent to which the program has accomplished the stated goals and key measures, through reporting on program implementation as well as program outcomes (as appropriate and identified in the performance measures). The evaluation should also measure program fidelity by assessing which activities were implemented and the quality, strengths and weaknesses of the implementation.

Successful Applicants agree to participate in the First Things First evaluation and any program specific evaluation or research efforts. Successful Applicants are required to collaborate with the First Things First longitudinal evaluation. The provider must participate in child assessment activities associated with the longitudinal evaluation including tracking and reporting to First Things First data pertaining to participant attendance, enrollment, and demographic information; all of which must be maintained in a secure and confidential manner. In addition, Applicants agree to follow First Things First and evaluation consultants of First Things First to observe program activities on site and obtain parent consent for data collection related to evaluation efforts.

Performance Measures are defined by First Things First to determine the key impacts of the strategies, programs and approaches being implemented. Applicants will collect and report data to First Things First on the progress of achieving the Performance Measures. All Successful Applicants will receive training on specific reporting requirements. Reporting requirements will be detailed and specific and aligned with the performance measures. Data must be submitted in its raw form (e.g., number of children served/proposed service number = 52 actual children served/50 proposed service number). Based on specific strategic objectives, data will be reported for subgroups, for example, one group of strategies may require reporting of the number of children from birth through five, whereas other strategies will need to report numbers broken down to number of infants, toddlers, and preschoolers. Additional examples are the types of Early Care provider or family enrollment status. Examples of subgroups of Early Care providers are those licensed with the Arizona Department of Health Services, accredited, or regulated by Tribal authorities. Examples of family enrollment statuses are newly enrolled, continuing enrollment, or disenrolled.

Any doubt as to the requirements of the RFGA or any apparent omission or discrepancy should be presented to First Things First at the Conference. An Applicant may not rely on any verbal responses to questions at the Conference. Material issues raised at the Conference that result in changes to the RFGA shall be answered solely through a formal written RFGA amendment.
Attendance at the Pre-Application Conference is strongly encouraged, but not mandatory.

Such public entity shall provide a Certificate of Self-Insurance. If the Grantee or sub-contractor(s) is/are a State of Arizona agency, board, commission, or university, none of the above shall apply.

5.4 Force Majeure. If either party hereto is delayed or prevented from the performance of any act required in this Agreement due to acts of God, strikes, lockouts, labor disputes, civil disorder, or other causes without fault and beyond the control of the party obligated, performance of or payment for such act will be excused for the period of the delay.

5.5 Third Party Antitrust Violations. The Grantee assigns to First Things First any claim for cover charges resulting from antitrust violations to the extent that those violations concern materials or services supplied by third parties to the Grantee, toward fulfillment of this Contract.

6. Compliance

6.1 Compliance with Applicable Laws. The services supplied under this Contract shall comply with all applicable Federal, state and local laws, and the Grantee shall maintain all applicable licenses and permit requirements.

6.2 Sectarian Requests. Funds may not be expended for any sectarian purpose or activity, including sectarian worship or instructions.

6.4 Licenses. Grantee shall maintain in current status all federal, state and local licenses and permits required for the operation of the business conducted by the Grantee.

6.5 Fingerprinting. Pursuant to A.R.S. §41-1758 Grantee will obtain fingerprint cards and/or background checks as applicable.

This Contract may be cancelled or terminated if the fingerprint check or the certified form of any person who is employed by a provider, whether paid or not, and who is required or allowed to provide services directly to children, discloses that a person has committed any act of sexual abuse of a child, including sexual exploitation or commercial sexual exploitation, or any act of child abuse or that the person has been convicted of or awaiting trial on any criminal offenses in this state or similar offenses in another state or jurisdiction.

7. State's Contractual Remedies

7.1 Right to Assurance. If First Things First in good faith has reason to believe that the Grantee does not intend to, or is unable to perform or continue performing under this Contract, the Grants and Contracts Procurement Specialist may demand in writing that the Grantee give a written assurance of intent to perform. Failure by the Grantee to provide written assurance within the number of Days specified in the demand may be, at First Things First's discretion, the basis for terminating the Contract under the First Things First Uniform Terms and Conditions or other rights and remedies available by law or provided by the contract.

- 7.2 Cancellation for Failure to Perform. Failure by the Grantee to adhere to any provision of this Agreement or its Attachments in the time and manner provided by this Contract or its Attachments shall constitute a material default and breach of this Contract and First Things First may cancel, at its option, this Agreement upon prior written notice.

First Things First may issue a written ten (10) day notice of default to the Grantee for acting or failing to act including but not limited to any of the following:

- The Grantee provides personnel that do not meet the requirements of this Agreement or are of an unacceptable quality.
- The Grantee fails to perform adequately the services required in this Agreement.
- The Grantee fails to furnish the required product or services within the time stipulated in this Agreement.
- The Grantee fails to make progress in the performance of the requirements of the Agreement and/or gives a positive indication that the Grantee will not or cannot perform to the requirements of this Agreement.

If the Grantee does not correct any problem(s) within ten (10) days after receiving the notice of default, First Things First may cancel the Contract. If First Things First cancels the Contract pursuant to this clause, First Things First reserves all rights or claims to damage for breach of the Contract and the Grantee agrees to a general release in favor of First Things First for any claim for reimbursement.

- 7.3 Non-Exclusive Remedies The rights and the remedies of First Things First under this Contract are not exclusive.

8. Contract Termination

- 8.1 Cancellation for Conflict of Interest. Pursuant to A.R.S. §38-511, First Things First may cancel this Contract within three (3) years after Contract execution without penalty or further obligation if any person significantly involved in initiating, negotiating, securing, drafting or creating the Contract on behalf of First Things First is or becomes at any time while the Contract or an extension of the Contract is in effect an employee of or a consultant to any other party to this Contract with respect to the subject matter of the Contract. The cancellation shall be effective when the Grantee receives written notice of the cancellation unless the notice specifies a later time. If the Grantee is a political subdivision of the State of Arizona, it may also cancel this Contract as provided in A.R.S. §38-511.
- 8.2 Suspension or Debarment. First Things First may, by written notice to the Grantee, immediately terminate this Contract if First Things First determines that the Grantee has been debarred, suspended or otherwise lawfully prohibited from participating in any public procurement activity, including but not limited to, being disapproved as a subcontractor of any public procurement unit or other governmental body. Submittal of an Application or execution of a contract shall attest that the Grantee is not currently suspended or debarred. If the Grantee becomes suspended or debarred, the Grantee shall immediately notify First Things First.
- 8.3 Termination for Convenience. First Things First reserves the right to terminate the Contract, in whole or in part at any time, when in the best interests of First Things First without penalty or recourse. Upon receipt of the written notice, the Grantee shall stop all work, as directed in the notice, notify all subcontractors of the effective date of the termination and minimize all further costs to First Things First. In the event of termination under this paragraph, all documents, data and reports prepared by the Grantee under the Contract shall become the property of and be delivered to First Things First upon demand. The Grantee shall be entitled to receive just, equitable compensation for work in progress, work completed, and materials accepted before the effective date of the termination. The cost principles and procedures provided in A.A.C. R2-7-701 shall apply.

- 8.4 Termination for Default. In addition to the rights reserved in the contract, First Things First may terminate the Contract in whole or in part due to the failure of the Grantee to comply with any term or condition of the Contract, to acquire and maintain all required insurance policies, bonds, licenses and permits, or to make satisfactory progress in performing the Contract. The Grants and Contracts Procurement Specialist shall provide written notice of the termination and the reasons for it to the Grantee. Upon termination under this paragraph, all materials, documents, data and reports prepared by the Grantee under the Contract shall become the property of and be delivered to First Things First on demand. Upon termination of this Contract, First Things First may procure, on terms and in the manner that it deems appropriate, materials or services to replace those under this Contract. The Grantee shall be liable to First Things First for any excess costs incurred by First Things First in procuring services in substitution for those due from the Grantee.

9. Contract Claims

- 9.1 Arbitration. How to Complete the Line Item Budget and Budget Narrative

Complete an 11-month budget for the period of August 1, 2010 through June 30, 2011 using the template provided in Attachment F. Please make sure you include a budget narrative with Attachment G as a sample of the type of information that would complete your budget narrative explaining the costs and how they are appropriate and necessary for the project.

In your line item budget and budget narrative list all resources that will be needed to implement the program/strategy(ies) described. These financial resources may involve costs for personnel, employee related costs, training, travel, supplies, space, equipment, computer equipment necessary to enter data into the First Things First grants management system (PGMS), program narratives, financial reimbursements, etc. All travel related costs for these trainings and meetings should be included in the Applicant's budget and calculated using the State of Arizona travel rate limitations for mileage, per diem and lodging as described on the budget narrative worksheet. For more information about the state requirements, visit <http://www.gao.az.gov/travel/>.

Funding shall be limited to those items specifically listed in the proposed budget. Total funding may not be modified following award of the grant/contract. Requests for line item modifications, which do not change the total program funding, shall be requested in writing and shall only be made following receipt of written authorization from First Things First.

Matching Funds are not required at this time except for Construction related costs that are identified in the RFGA; however, if matching funds are listed and submitted to support the application, they are subject to financial and programmatic monitoring by First Things First. Matching Funds budget template can be found in Exhibit D.

Please note the line items included in the budget template represent the types of costs possible for a line item budget these line items may or may not be applicable or appropriate for your Application. Your budget line items requested must fit within one of the categories listed. However, it is expected that you would not need to utilize all of the sample line items.

Also, be sure to include the scheduled salary increases on the Budget Form.*

All purchases should be made through competitive bid or using established purchasing* procedures. For example, items such as computers, printers, projectors, etc. each with a unit cost less than $5,000.

Administrative/Indirect Costs: Administrative costs are general or centralized expenses of overall administration of an organization that receives grant funds and does not include particular program costs. For organizations that have an established federally approved indirect cost rate for Federal awards, indirect costs mean those costs that are included in the organization's indirect cost rate. Such costs are generally identified with the organization's overall operation and are further described in 2 CFR 220, 2 CFR 225, and 2 CFR 230.

Applicants must list either Option A or Option B and provide proper justification for expenses included:

- ☐ Option A - Administrative Costs: with proper justification, sub grantees may include an allocation for administrative costs for up to 10% of the total direct funds requested of the grant request. Administrative costs may include allocable direct charges for: costs of financial, accounting, auditing, contracting or general legal services; costs of internal evaluation, including overall organization's management improvement costs; and costs of general liability insurance that protects the organization(s) responsible for operating a project, other than insurance costs solely attributable to the project. Administrative costs may also include that portion of salaries and benefits of the project's director and other administrative staff not attributable to the time spent in support of a specific project.

Or

- ☐ Option B - Federally Approved Indirect Costs: If your organization has a federally approved indirect cost rate agreement in place, grantees may include an allocation for indirect costs for up to 10% of the grant request. Applicants must provide a copy of their federally approved indirect cost rate agreement.

Indirect costs are costs of an organization that are not readily assignable to a particular project, but are necessary to the operation of the organization and the performance of the project. The cost of operating and maintaining facilities, depreciation, and administrative salaries are examples of the types of costs that are usually treated as indirect.

First Things First Parent Coaching and Peer Support Services Standard of Practice

I. Description of Strategy

Often times when a family has a concern about their child's development they share that concern with the child's health care, child care provider, or school program. Children may then be screened to determine if a further assessment of development is necessary. Evaluation of a child's development by an Arizona Early Intervention Program (AzEIP) provider, a local school district, or other professional, may or may not lead to a determination that the child qualifies to receive state supported intervention services. Reasons vary from the child only demonstrating mild delays in development to misperceptions of what children can do at a particular age. Although children who fall into these categories do not qualify to receive specialized services through state and federal funding, they can still benefit from enhanced support by their families and caregivers.

To assist families in developing knowledge and skills to enhance their abilities to help their children reach their fullest potential, First Things First promotes a Parent Coaching and Support model to provide individualized support in coordination with an interactive parent and child together model of services.

Evidence of effective programs that focus on parenting skills identifies four core components of an effective parent education logic model (Parents as Teachers National Center, Inc., www.parentsteachers.org). These fundamental, core components of a Parent Coaching and Support Services Model include:

1. Individual Visits¹: Visits may be conducted in the home or other locations where the family typically frequents and feels most comfortable. Personalized activities center on children's specific needs and family strengths for supporting children's on target development;
2. Ongoing Child Progress Monitoring and Screening: Families are encouraged to develop skills around recognizing how to observe and understand their child's development. Children may be rescreened after specific time periods have passed and no progress is noted;
3. Parent and Child Interactive Time: Families participate in facilitated group activities where they can interact with their children and enjoy opportunities to be connected with other families with similar concerns;
4. Networking and Coordination of Services: Families are provided with information and support in connecting with additional services, navigating referral systems and accessing community resources to improve their natural, concrete support networks

II. Implementation Standards:

Intensity of Services

¹ Although home visits are a component of this strategy, they are not intended to be a comprehensive education program, rather specific to the child developmental needs and the individual needs of the family. Therefore, this SOP document is used in place of any additional home visitation standards of practice.

Intensity of services may vary dependent on the specific needs of the family. Research has demonstrated a clear connection between program intensity and retention of families. The minimum standards for intensity of services for Parent Coaching are as follows:

- Personal Visits – At minimum, one face to face visit for at least one hour will be conducted each month of service delivery. The number of personal visits should be adjusted for families in need of more intensive services, especially recommended for families that may be more isolated from the community, but may not be less than the required minimum.
- Parent and Child Interactive Time – One parent group activity for a minimum of two hours will be conducted each month of service delivery.

Conducting Personal Visits

Individualized, personal visits are the core of the Parent Coaching model. During these visits, the family is gaining greater understanding and confidence in their role as the primary teacher of their child. Supporting the parent-child relationship is key to success.

- Prior to conducting personal visits, the grantee uses a standard form or instrument to conduct an “intake” process. The intake process shall include interview of the family, review of other records if available, and information related to child’s referral and evaluation to demonstrate eligibility for the parent coaching service and to ensure that duplication of services are not conducted. Intake procedures shall also identify both prior and current resources the family is or has attempted to access.
- Personal visits begin with assessment of family needs, the results of which are used to determine
- Parent coaches shall create a family profile to be reviewed regularly with the family to maintain understanding for the family’s routines and ongoing activities.
- Parent coaches implement a structured, research-based curriculum that promotes proven parenting practices that foster children’s development.
- Design activities to be conducted during personal visits that are specifically designed around the child’s current levels of development and health and ensure that activities are tailored to the individual needs of each family
- Families are fully engaged and are clear partners in the process of monitoring and documenting their child’s progress. Families shall be provided with models for writing observations or noting their child’s development and encouraged to keep records of developmental progress to better understand their child’s growth.
- In addition to the individualized topics and activities, visits will address the following skills:
 - Understanding typical and atypical child development
 - Recognizing age appropriate child expectations
 - Identifying developmental milestones and developmental red flags
 - Using strategies for engaging in learning during daily activities and routines specific to the family’s lifestyle, background and culture.
 - Maintaining meaningful parent-child interactions
- Visits will be conducted using a family-centered practice model
 - Recognition that the family unit is the focus of attention.
Family-centered practice works with the family as a collective unit, insuring the safety and well-being of family members.
 - Emphasis on strengthening the capacity of families to function effectively
The primary purpose of family-centered practice is to strengthen the family's potential for carrying out their responsibilities.

- Engagement of families in designing all aspects of the policies, services, and program evaluation.

Family-centered practitioners partner with families to use their expert knowledge throughout the decision- and goal-making processes and provide individualized, culturally-responsive, and relevant services for each family.

- Connection of families with more comprehensive, diverse, and community-based networks of supports and services.

Family-centered interventions assist in mobilizing resources to maximize communication, shared planning, and collaboration among the several community and/or neighborhood systems that are directly involved in the family.

Conducting Parent and Child Interactive Group Meetings

Parent and child interactive time is based on the presumption that “all parents deserve and can benefit from support from other parents, research-based information regarding child development, early opportunities to become involved with community and school, and enriched opportunities with [their] child[ren] (Parents as Teachers National Center, Inc., 2004). The goals of the parent and child interactive group times are to remove family sense of isolation and for families to see themselves as support for one another. Additional goals include to support families in recognizing their role as their children’s primary teacher as well as give parents opportunities to interact with their children in a learning environment.

- Group meetings occur in family friendly locations that allow for structured activities facilitated by the coach that provide information and promote parenting knowledge.
- Group meetings are held on a schedule convenient for the families participating, including holding events in evenings and on weekends.
- Group meetings include time for parents to meet with and support each other.
- Group meetings are used to reinforce learning occurring during personal visits
- Group meetings provide opportunities for children to play and interact with others outside of the family while parent coaches model and facilitate parent learning.
- Group meetings provide families opportunities to learn by attending activities and events in the community

Training and Qualifications Standards

Providing Parent Coaching services requires specific education and skills.

- Parent Coaches have obtained at minimum an associate's degree in a field related to early childhood education, early childhood special education, child and family studies, social work, or adult education.
- Areas of knowledge and competencies demonstrated in:
 - a. Child development
 - b. Early intervention/early childhood special education
 - c. Availability of community resources and how to access them
 - d. Reflective practices
 - e. Child observation and ongoing progress monitoring
 - f. Family protective factors
 - g. Facilitation of group learning

h. Adult education

- To address cultural competency objectives, coaches shall ensure that children and families receive effective, understandable, and respectful services that are provided in a culturally competent manner—a manner compatible with their cultural beliefs and practices and preferred language. Coaches should receive ongoing education and training in culturally and linguistically appropriate service delivery. Coaches should develop participatory, collaborative partnerships with families and their communities and utilize a variety of formal and informal mechanisms to facilitate community and family-centered involvement in designing and implementing the National Standards on Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services.
- Parent coaches receive training and information regarding mandatory reporting. Arizona law requires early care and education staff who suspect that a child has received non-accidental injury or has been neglected, to report their concerns to Child Protective Services or local law enforcement (ARS §13-3620.A).
- Parent coaches will participate in continuing education to remain current and update skills and knowledge to meet the requirements of this scope of work.

Supervision, Quality Assurance and Evaluation Standards

- Supervision is conducted as a collaborative process with mechanisms that support them in challenging situations and provides ongoing and regularly scheduled (no less than monthly) opportunities for discussion to reflect and debrief. Supervision will also include observation, feedback and opportunities for peer consultation.
- Evaluation of consultation services utilizes quantitative and qualitative process that includes measures of change within the early childhood environment that accrue due to the consultation process and input from staff, families, program administrators, and community members. Evaluation includes review of the original assessment results, review of the improvement plan activities and re-assessment to determine if consultation made improvements to initial assessment activities.
- Compensation and benefits are adequate for supporting high quality staff and retention of that staff.

III. Service Delivery Activities:

Parent coaching provides families with the supports they need to ensure their children reach their maximum potential through a comprehensive service delivery model. Coaching focuses on building families' understanding of the primary relationship they have with their children. Coaching is directed toward expanding parent skills and knowledge rather than an intervention service to a child. Such a comprehensive model includes the four components of Individual Visits, Monitoring of Children's Progress, Parent and Child Interactive Time, and Networking and Coordination of Services. Each component is devised of the following activities:

1. Individual Visits

- Provide individual coaching to a family in the home setting or other natural setting where a family typically frequents and feels comfortable.
- Build a strong relationship between the coach and family based on respect.
- Include an initial family intake process to determine family and child needs.
- Engage the family in learning about information related to their specific needs as well as the general topics of child development including information on typical and atypical development, age-appropriate expectations, and information on recognizing children's developmental milestones.

- Model, consult, coach parenting practices
- Engage the family in creating a home learning environment, offer ideas for turning daily activities and routines into interactive, relationship-building, learning opportunities.
- Observe the family in parent/caregiver-child interactions.

2. Ongoing Child Progress Monitoring

- Engage the parent/caregiver in conducting ongoing observation of the child's behavior and development across the domains of cognition, language/communication, social-emotional and motor skills.
- Assist the family in understanding the importance of ongoing monitoring of children's progress and development.
- Engage the family in a tangible means to document children's progress and development (e.g. compiling a child portfolio or creating a scrapbook of developmental milestones)
- Discuss with family any ongoing concerns regarding children's development.
- Provide additional screening and/or referral to appropriate health care or educational entities when concerns persist over time.

3. Parent and Child Interactive Group Time

- Facilitate group meetings with families to provide information about parenting skills, child development, child health, adult-child interactions, discussing concerns with professionals and availability of community resources.
- Provide a venue for parents to meet, discuss mutual concerns, support each other, and create parent to parent connections.
- Facilitate interactive learning activities between parents/caregivers and children.

4. Networking and Coordination of Services

- Connect families to fully inclusive community programs, groups, or other opportunities that enrich family and child experiences in settings where children of all abilities are present.
- Provide information and referral supports for medical, mental health, social services, employment etc.
- Assist families in the transition to early intervention, special education or special health care services if a qualifying delay becomes identified.
- Coordinate programming with other service providers also working with the family from other programs or disciplines.
